

Daphna Horowitz - Speaker

Biography

Actuary, Author, Speaker and Leadership Coach – Daphna Horowitz holds qualifications in business, leadership and coaching. She works with CEOs and their teams, across the globe, to transform workplace culture by digging deep into leadership power and purpose, developing strategic processes, leading change initiatives and enabling great leadership.

Her passion is working with CEOs (and other leaders) in crisis or transition to discover their purpose and lead with impact. These leaders like to shake things up, are not satisfied with “more of the same”, because they are always striving to achieve more, go further, be better.

Before establishing her coaching career, she worked in insurance and consulting, quickly rising to Director level. She held the position of Lecturer at the two largest universities in Johannesburg while managing her own actuarial consulting company and corporate event management company.

Recent assignments across Africa, Middle East and India include the following clients: Barclays Bank, Coca-Cola, Standard Chartered Bank, Anglo American, Medtronic, Rio Tinto, University of Stellenbosch and GIBS Business School.

She is the published author of Courage to Lead: Leadership lessons from Kilimanjaro, a practical leadership ‘how-to’, considered to be essential reading for leaders and aspiring leaders. She is the current President-Elect of ICF Israel. Her purpose is to enable talented people become extraordinary leaders, to scale their impact and create meaning in their work and life.

Speech: The 7 principles of leadership power

This workshop reveals 7 principles to building strong, positive power as a leader. Participants walk away with insight into the fine balance of the power paradox and a roadmap for bringing out positive leadership power, in themselves and others, for maximum impact. Drawing on her work coaching CEOs and their teams and her experience of climbing Kilimanjaro, Daphna Horowitz takes you on an exciting journey exploring leadership power and its practical application in leadership and coaching.